The Committee appointed in the 5th mo. 1795 to prepare some Articles to be sent to the Shawanos, Delaware, Weyandot & other Nations of Indians, expected to assemble at Greenville to be held under the direction of General Anthony Wayne, now report.

Having pursuant to directions proceeded and forwarded a present to amount of £53, 8s. 1/2, they accompanied the same with a Letter to General Wayne, together with the Epistle of sagacity signed in the name, requesting he would embrace a suitable opportunity of communicating it to the Indians when assembled, & of delivering to them on behalf of the Religious Society, our present as a token of our continued regard & friendship for them. Considerable time elapsed before we were regularly informed by the General of his Compliance with our request, the reason for which delay is assigned in his Letter to us dated at Detroit the 6th Dele 1795, wherein he informs us of the particular care exercised by him in conveying to the understandings of the Indians the substance of the aforesaid Epistle. Our motives in sending the said present, & of the satisfaction manifested by them on the occasion — this reasonable testimony of our regard appearing to have a good effect, it being as the General expresses it, "the fairest prospect of a lasting peace and friendly intercourse between the Citizens of the United States & those Aborigines of America."
